WINDOWS QUICK REFERENCE GUIDE

AFTER DARK

After Dark is the fun, entertaining and animated screen saver from Berkeley Systems. A screen saver is a fun way to protect your screen from the shadowy images that can appear when the same motionless display sits on your screen too long and screen phosphor is destroyed. This problem is called burn-in. After your computer has been inactive for a set period of time, After Dark presents a screen-saving Display.

TERMS TO KNOW

After Dark Display. An individual screen-saving Display, such as Starry Night or Flying Toasters.

After Dark Control Panel. The window that lets you run After Dark Displays and change their settings.

Tree View of Displays. The list of screen saver Displays that appears in the list box on the After Dark Control Panel. The Displays are organized in a tree format, grouped within product folders for each Berkeley Systems screen-saver product.

Randomizer. A feature that lets you choose any number of Displays that will be shown in random order when your After Dark screen saver is activated. You can also set how long you want each Display to run.

INSTALLING AFTER DARK

Typical Install puts all of After Dark's necessary files in their proper locations and updates any other Berkeley Systems screen savers you own. Remember to turn off any other screen savers and all anti-virus programs before you install. To install After Dark, follow these step-by step instructions.

Place the After Dark CD into your CD-ROM drive. Click the Start button in the Windows 95 taskbar and select Run. In the Command line box, type d: setup (where d: is the letter of your CD-ROM drive). Select OK. A Setup Wizard will guide you through the installation. When the Choose a Destination box appears, select OK to install to the suggested default directory. Click the Browse button to install After Dark to a different directory. In the Setup Options box, select Typical Install to ensure all files are properly installed. Select Custom if you only want to install selected components of After Dark. Follow the on-screen instructions.

This version of After Dark replaces older versions of the After Dark control panel that you have installed on your computer. If you own other Berkeley Systems screen saver packages, Displays from those packages will be put into individual folders within the After Dark Files folder. Those folders appear as options in the After Dark Control Panel.

AFTER DARK CONTROL PANEL

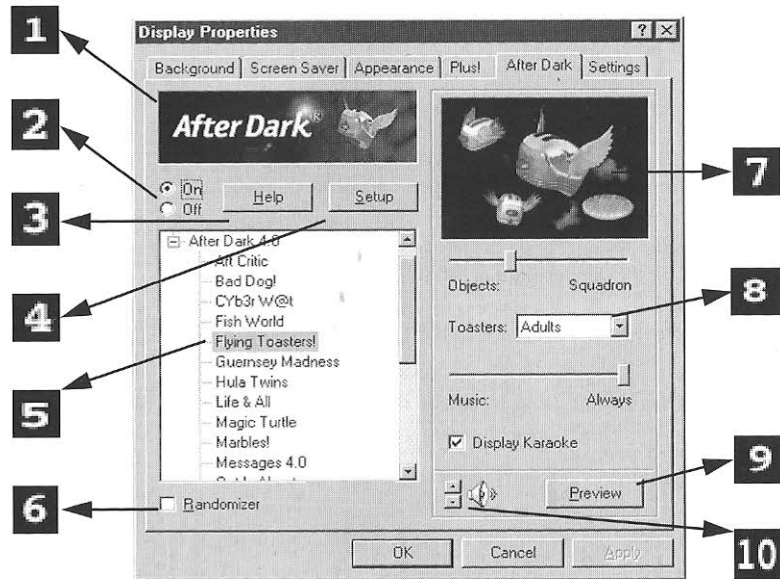

The After Dark Control Panel allows you to choose which Display will run when your screen falls asleep, preview After Dark Displays, turn After Dark on or off, see credit information or select further setup options.

Opening the Control Panel

Open the After Dark Control Panel by doing any of the following: Click the After Dark Icon that appears next to the clock in the notification section of the Windows 95 taskbar. Click the Start button, choose Programs, and choose After Dark from.

the After Dark options. Right-click on your Windows 95 desktop, choose Properties from the pop-up menu, and click the After Dark tab. Click the Start button on the taskbar, choose Settings and then choose Control Panel. Double-click the Display icon and click the After Dark tab.

AFTER DARK

After Dark is the latest collection of screen savers from Berkeley Systems. A screen saver is a fun way to protect your screen from the shadowy images that can appear when the same motionless display sits on your screen too long and screen phosphor is destroyed. This problem is called burn-in. After your computer has been inactive for a set period of time, After Dark presents a screen-saving display.

This Quick Reference Guide contains all the information you need to install After Dark and get familiar with its features. However, if you need more help with specific features or operations, just access the online help located within After Dark. For information concerning general Macintosh operation, please consult your computer's User's Guide.

After Dark Control Panel. The program that gives you control of After Dark, its configuration, its displays, and its Sleep time.

After Dark Files. Where you will find all displays and support files.

After Dark Display. An individual screen saver, such as Hula Twins or Flying Toasters.

Product Folder. Any folder inside the After Dark Files folder that contains at least one display.

Sleep. After Dark senses when your Macintosh has been inactive for a pre-set amount of time and presents a screen-saving display.

Idle. Idle time is when no input is received from either keyboard or mouse and there hasn't been any other activity on your computer.

WHERE IS AFTER DARK?

After installation, After Dark is in the Control Panels folder. The installer also puts an alias to After Dark in your Apple menu. To access After Dark, either select After Dark from the Apple menu, or select Control Panels from the Apple menu, then open After Dark.

INSTALLING AFTER DARK

Prior to installing, turn off all anti-virus programs and quit all applications. If you do not know how to turn off the virus protection software, refer to its Help file or User's Manual. Avoid conflicts by removing screen savers not made by Berkeley Systems from your System Folder.

Place CD in CD-ROM drive. Double-click on the "Double-Click Me to Install" icon. A screen appears with information about this screen saver collection. Select Continue. The Install screen appears. Select the type of installation you want:

- n Install Full Product (includes animated and online displays)

- n Install After Dark Animated Displays to install everything in the full product.

Follow the on-screen instructions to proceed with installation.

When installation is complete, the installer prompts you to restart your system. Don't forget to fill out your registration card and send it in.

AFTER DARK CONTROL PANEL

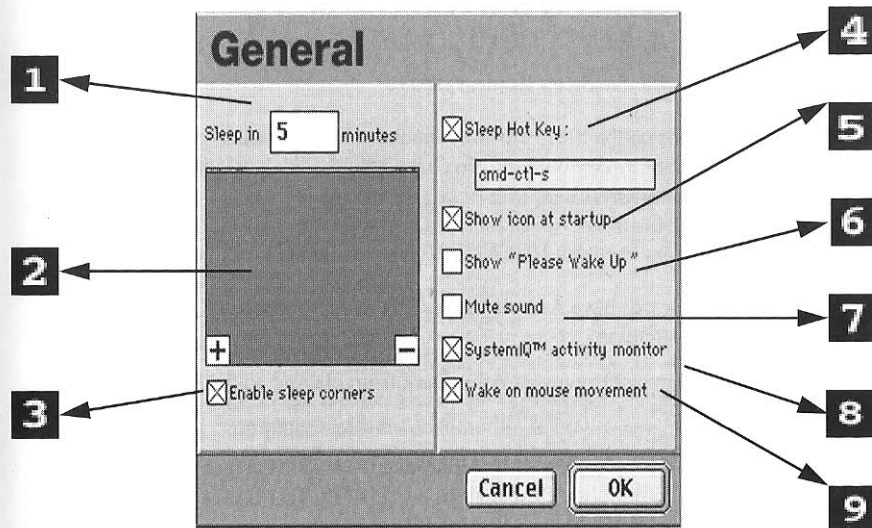

The After Dark Control Panel allows you to choose which display will appear when your screen falls asleep, change a display's settings, or see credit and help information. You can also configure After Dark's Sleep time and other features by clicking the Setup button.

GUIDE TO AFTER DARK CONTROL PANEL

- 1 To see credits, version information and other information, click on the logo faceplate.
- 2 By clicking on the down arrow, the Product Folder pop-up menu is displayed so that you can choose which screen saver package to use.
- 3 Click on a display's name to select it. The currently selected display's name is highlighted.
- 4 This graphic is a thumbnail of the selected display. If one is unavailable, you'll see a generic After Dark icon.
- 5 This switch turns After Dark off or on. If After Dark is turned off, screen saving will not occur until After Dark is turned on again.
- 6 To set up After Dark features such as Password and EcoLogic, click Setup.
- 7 Change the settings for the selected display in the Control Panel by using the display-specific controls.
- 8 Click the arrows of the speaker icon to turn the volume up or down for the selected display.
- 9 The Demo button lets you preview the currently selected display and change settings while it's running.
- 10 To see more information on a display and its controls, click on the text at the bottom of the Control Panel.

AFTER DARK SETUP

GUIDE TO AFTER DARK SETUP

- 1 Type a number in the box to set how many minutes your computer must be Idle before After Dark goes to sleep.
- 2 Drag the + and - boxes to your Sleep corners. The + box marks the Sleep Now corner. The - box marks the Never Sleep corner.
- 3 Select to enable the Sleep Corners feature.
- 4 Select to turn on the Sleep Hot Key feature, allowing you to put After Dark to sleep with the key combination. To change the default key, click in the text box and type a new letter
- 5 Check this box to make After Dark Display its icon during startup.
- 6 Check this box to have After Dark Display a message when another program needs your attention.
- 7 Select if you want to prevent After Dark from playing sound or music in all Displays.
- 8 Check this box to keep your screen awake during system activity (such as background print jobs). Deselect this box if After Dark does not come on at set time or the displays are moving slowly and jerkily.
- 9 Check this box if you want mouse movements to wake After Dark.

OTHER SPECIAL SETUP FEATURES

Password

Password allows you to change After Dark's security features. After Dark can protect your system with a password you choose. When After Dark sleeps with password protection on, you can access your system only if you type in the correct password.

WallZapper

WallZapper enables you to turn your favorite screen saver display into desktop art! Just press Command-Control-Z while the display is running. Just follow the instructions in Online Help.

EcoLogic

EcoLogic is After Dark's power manager, reducing your computer's power consumption in three stages: running a regular After Dark Display; powering off your monitor; and shutting off your computer.

RANDOMIZER

Can't decide which display to use? Don't worry. With Randomizer, you can use all your favorite displays. Just select your favorites and Randomizer will display them in order or randomly. You can also decide how long each display is presented.

HOW TO RANDOMIZE

To create your first Randomizer setting, select Randomizers from the Product Folder pop-up menu. Select Randomizer from the list of Randomizers and click New.

Select a Product Folder from the pop-up menu. Use this menu to select displays from different sets.

Double-click the displays you want in your Randomizer or click once and then click Add -->. You can select the same display more than once to make it appear more frequently than others.

Click the Select All button to select all the displays in a folder. Click the Add-> button to add them all.

The list of displays shows you the order in which the displays will appear if you choose In Order from the Randomizer display controls.

Click Remove to remove a highlighted display from the list above. Use the Up and Down buttons to move a display up or down the list, changing the order of the displays.

Use the display controls to adjust the settings for the selected display. The settings apply only within this Randomizer.

Click Demo to preview the currently selected display. The speaker icon controls sound for the currently selected display. However, the speaker icon on the Randomizer control determines the maximum volume for all displays.

Use the slider to control how long each display appears. If Default is selected, the display will appear for the default duration chosen in the Randomizer display controls.

Type in a unique name for your Randomizer creation. It will show up in the display list whenever you select Randomizer from the Product Folder pop-up menu.

To view the list of people involved in the production of After Dark, make sure to review the Credits information in the Displays and Control Panel.

THE FINE PRINT OF AFTER DARK

If you do not agree to this Agreement, you are not an authorized user of the software, and it is your responsibility to remove After Dark from your system.

 BERKELEY SYSTEMS AFTER DARK LICENSE AGREEMENT *****

This After Dark License Agreement ("Agreement") for After Dark software and related documentation ("After Dark") and news, information and other content that Berkeley Systems generally makes available through After Dark as modified, added, or deleted in Berkeley Systems's sole discretion from time to time ("Information") is your proof of license. An electronic copy of this Agreement will also be provided to you upon installation of After Dark.

1. GRANT AND TERM OF LICENSE. Subject to your compliance with the terms of this Agreement, Berkeley Systems Inc. ("Berkeley Systems") grants to you a personal, nonexclusive, nontransferable and royalty-free right to install and use After Dark and receive the Information solely for your lawful personal use. After Dark may be installed only on (a) computers controlled by you, or (b) a network server allowing only you and other persons who have agreed to the terms and conditions of this Agreement to access After Dark and the Information. The right to use After Dark and receive the Information is not transferable. This Agreement and the license granted in it shall continue until Berkeley Systems announces its termination, and will terminate automatically if you fail to comply with the limitations described in this Agreement. Upon any termination, or if you should give up your personal use and control of the computers on which After Dark is installed, you agree to destroy all copies of After Dark, and the Information and any related materials in any form.

2. COPYRIGHT.

(a).PRODUCTS. After Dark is owned by Berkeley Systems or its licensors and are protected by United States copyright laws and international treaty provisions. Therefore, you must treat After Dark like any other copyrighted material (e.g. a book or musical recording) except that you may make one copy of After Dark solely for backup purposes which includes all copyright and trademark notices. You are not permitted to copy After Dark for archival purposes.

(b).INFORMATION. The Information is also protected by copyright and other intellectual property laws. All rights (including but not limited to copyright), title and interest in the Information are reserved to and owned by the respective organizations which have provided it or their licensors (the "Information Providers").

3.OTHER RIGHTS. You may not modify, translate, reverse engineer, decompile, disassemble or create derivative works based on After Dark or remove any proprietary notices or labels it contains or permit other parties to do so. All applicable rights to patents, copyrights, trademarks and trade secrets in After Dark or any modifications to it shall be and remain in Berkeley Systems or its licensors.

4. OTHER OBLIGATIONS AND RESTRICTIONS. You are responsible for obtaining and maintaining at your own expense all telephone or other communications links, computer hardware and other equipment or facilities needed for access to and use of After Dark and the Information. The Information may be stored, manipulated, analyzed, displayed, reformatted and printed for your personal, non-commercial use only; you agree not to use the Information in or in connection with any business or commercial enterprise, including without limitation any securities, investment, accounting, banking, legal or media business or enterprise.

You agree not to reproduce, retransmit, distribute, disseminate, sell, publish, broadcast or circulate the Information in any form to anyone, including but not limited to others in the same company or organization or to newsgroups, mail lists or electronic bulletin boards, without the express prior written consent of the relevant Information Provider. You agree not to alter or modify the Information, and that you will not store or retain it for a period of more than 30 days from its receipt.

5. NO WARRANTIES OR LIABILITIES.

(a) PRODUCTS. You expressly acknowledge and agree that use of After Dark is AT YOUR OWN RISK and that After Dark is provided "AS IS" without any warranties or conditions whatsoever.

(b) After Dark is not specifically developed or licensed for use in any nuclear, aviation, mass transit, life support, medical or any other inherently dangerous applications, or commercial applications.

(c) THE ENTIRE RISK AS TO THE QUALITY AND PERFORMANCE OF AFTER DARK IS WITH YOU AND SHOULD IT PROVE DEFECTIVE, YOU (AND NOT BERKELEY SYSTEMS) ASSUME THE ENTIRE COSTS OF SERVICING, REPAIR OR CORRECTION OF SUCH DEFECTS.

(d) SOME JURISDICTIONS DO NOT ALLOW THE EXCLUSION OR LIMITATION OF WARRANTIES OR INCIDENTAL OR CONSEQUENTIAL DAMAGES, SO THE ABOVE LIMITATIONS OR EXCLUSIONS MAY NOT APPLY TO YOU.

6. U.S. GOVERNMENT RIGHTS. If you are acquiring After Dark and/or After DarkOnline (including the related documentation) on behalf of any part of the United States Government, the following provisions apply. After Dark and After DarkOnline are deemed to be "commercial software" and "commercial computer software documentation," respectively, pursuant to DFAR Section 227.7202 and FAR 12.212, as applicable. Any use, modification, reproduction, release, performance, display or disclosure of After Dark and After DarkOnline (including the related documentation) by the U.S. Government or any of its agencies shall be governed solely by the terms of this Agreement and shall be prohibited except to the extent expressly permitted by the terms of this Agreement.

7. CHANGED TERMS Berkeley Systems shall have the right at any time to change the terms of this Agreement or require new terms and to change, impose conditions on or discontinue any aspect or feature of After Dark. Such changes shall be effective immediately upon notification by any means which give you actual knowledge of them or upon posting of such terms on After Dark, and any use by you of After Dark, After Dark Online and receipt of the Information after such notice shall be deemed acceptance of them by you.

8. GENERAL This Agreement will be governed by the laws of the State of California, without reference to conflict of laws principles. This Agreement is the entire agreement between Berkeley Systems and you and supersedes any other communications or advertising with respect to After Dark or the Information. If any provision of this Agreement is held unenforceable, that provision shall be enforced to the maximum extent permissible so as to give effect to the intent of the parties, and the remainder of this Agreement shall continue in full force and effect. The Information Providers are third party beneficiaries of all of the terms above, and are relying on them. Any item or service furnished by Berkeley Systems, the Information Providers or its or their respective affiliates, agents, licensees and licensors in furtherance of this Agreement, although not specifically identified in it, shall nevertheless be covered by this Agreement unless specifically covered by some other written or electronic agreement accepted by you and an authorized representative of Berkeley Systems or such other party as the case may be. You agree to comply with all U.S., foreign and local laws and regulations which apply to your use of the Information including without limitation, export control laws and regulations.
